

DeBord/Turner Ready for Round 2! Chandler/Shouse Race for Sheriff in Fall!

Incumbent Ronnie DeBord defeated Audley Gay by a slim 62 votes to run in November against former judge executive Cale Turner. Tanya Treadway Neeley was a close third with less than 40 votes separating her well run race with less than 40 votes separating her from Gay.

In the Sheriff's race, Chandler won the republican nomination by a landslide. He will be running against incumbent Kelly Shouse who defeated James Paul McIntosh by 102 votes.

Another landslide win was Shanna Oliver who was elected as the republican nominee for Court Clerk. Oliver will be running against Democrat Elect Patsy Shouse who barely squeaked by her opponent Tisha Thomas by 3 votes.

Elected as Owsley County Attorney for another term by a 2-1 margin was incumbent Henley McIntosh.

Another close race and without opposition for the fall was the coroner's race. Rob Morgan was elected by 83 votes over Mark Edwards.

Magistrate District 1: Republican Zeke Little, Jr. defeated incumbent Roger Reed and has no opposition in the fall.

Magistrate District 2: Republican Mike Thomas narrowly defeated Travis Smith by 14; Democrat Dennis Coon Campbell defeated Alfred Herald.

Magistrate District 3: Republican Tim Bishop defeated incumbent Jesse Bishop, Jr. by 21 votes and has no opposition this fall.

Constables elected were: District 1: John Allen, District 2: Bill Campbell and District 3: Richard Sandlin.

MOORE AWARED TOP HONORS AT KSP POST 8 MOREHEAD

On May 14th The Kentucky State Police announced the Trooper of the Year, the Commercial Vehicle Officer of the Year and other awards for acts of meritorious service, achievement, valor, bravery, life-saving acts, professionalism and dedication to duty today at the Capital Plaza Hotel in Frankfort.

Among those was Owsley County native Trooper Jonathan Moore who was awarded "KSP Post 8 Morehead 2013 Trooper of the Year." This award is given when the respective Post commander nominates a Trooper who best embodies the highest standards of professionalism and dedication to duty. A 3-year veteran of the Kentucky State Police, Moore is assigned to Post 8 in Morehead KY where his primary patrol assignment is Montgomery, Bath and Menifee Counties.

Trooper Jonathan Moore answered 368 citizen complaints, assisted 44 stranded motorists, opened 31 criminal investigation cases, made 263 criminal arrests, investigated 27 vehicle collisions and served 103 arrest warrants.

During the whole calendar of 2013, Moore issued 1,399 total citations including 92 for speeding, 93 for seat belt, and 7 for child restraint violations. Moore arrested 32 drunk drivers, conducted 855 vehicle inspections,

Apart from Trooper Moore's traffic enforcement effort, according to Captain Brian Bowling, commander of Post 8, Trooper Moore's "investigative tenacity" was a significant factor in the successful conclusion of three major felony cases during 2013. One involved the repeated sexual abuse against two juveniles under the age of 8. After persistent and exhaustive effort, Moore identified and arrested the family member who was later convicted and received a multiple year

16' Utility Trailer Stolen

During the early hours of Monday Morning May 5, 2014 thieves drove behind Wolf Creek Metal and backed into where the trailers are parked. There are three different trailers. First the thieves tried to steal one of the two utility trailers, but both were locked and they could not break the locks. They then backed into the 16' covered trailer, was able to break the lock off the hitch and drove off with this trailer. A security camera captured all of this at Wolf Creek Metal. As they drove back through Booneville, several other cameras were able to identify the make, and color of the truck and that the thieves headed onto KY

If you have any information about the 16' covered trailer and the individuals who took the item, the City of Booneville is offering a $500 reward. For more information, you can contact Ronnie Callahan at 606 593-6800.

Owsley Students Benefit from HCTC Ready to Work Program

Ashley and Nicholas Banks of Owsley County are grateful to the Ready to Work program at Hazard Community and Technical College because of the help they received in fulfilling their educational goals. The husband and wife are working toward their dreams together.

Nicholas graduated Saturday, May 10 from HCTC with an Associate's Degree in Applied Science and he will be transferring to Eastern Kentucky University in the fall to pursue a bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice. He plans on becoming a parole officer.

"Ready to Work has helped me so much it's really unbelievable! I did not even graduate high school I actually started on the Work and Learn program and stayed on that program until I earned my GED in 2010 it took me three tries! Then I enrolled in college classes and got on the RTW program. RTW has allowed me to further my education as well as provided me with the chance to better my life for my family and myself," Nicholas noted.

"I have never been very confident in myself and never really felt that I

A Simple Man

By:

Column 86

Jake sang for two hours and the crowd danced to every song. He was pleased that people were enjoying the music. Clarence had danced a couple of times with Liza, and it was evident that it wore Clarence out. Clarence was smiling mockingly at Jake each time he danced with his daughter, and Jake couldn't help feeling there was a message in the old man's eyes as he looked directly at Jake. It warmed Jake's heart to see Liza and her father relishing the time with each other. Liza was all smiles as she followed her father's lead on the dance floor. When the last song was sung, Jake announced it was time for their break and another band was ready to entertain them for the remainder of the night. He joined Clarence and Liza Jane at the front table and waved to the waitress that he was ready for her to serve his dinner. "You did a good job up there son," Clarence said as he patted Jake on the back. "Thanks, I can only do my best," he replied to Clarence. Liza seemed to be watching him carefully as he sat at the table. He sensed she had something to say, so he asked her what she was thinking about. She did have something on her mind, and it was uncanny that Jake could read her face so well. She wanted to know why he had not sung the pretty song he was humming the day before, but she didn't want to press him about it either. She decided it wasn't worth bringing up and figured he had his own reasons for not singing it yet. Liza commented that she like his new cowboy shirt he had bought the day before, and he knew she was avoiding whatever had been on her mind minutes before. He could read her like a book. She smiled in a teasing manner and he could tell she had reserved her thoughts for another time. "I think you are getting better each time I hear you sing Jake!" Liza said tightly. She wanted him to know how much she enjoyed his singing. She had attended several large concerts of famous musicians, but she had not personally enjoyed them as much as in the intimate environment of the restaurant. Jake finished his meal and sat back to listen to the second band that was performing. He knew all the members of the band and thought they did a fine job of playing and singing. The dancers were fanning themselves as they were getting heated up by the dancing. Clarence ordered dessert for the table and he was enjoying himself immensely. "Life doesn't have to be so complicated to be fun, right Jake?" Clarence posed the question with a grin on his face. "I can't think of anywhere else I would rather be on a Saturday night myself," Jake jovially answered as he looked straight at Liza.

OUTDOOR TRUTHS

by GARY
MILLER

I was a mischievous youngster. Not mean, just mischievous. The local gang of boys got a little rowdy when all of us came together. I remember things like throwing eggs on Halloween, building a foxhole to hide in on the Fourth of July after we lit our fireworks, and even sneaking around in places that we were not allowed to be. I don't know if all kids were that way but this was the makeup of the boys of Ford's Woods. We played football, basketball, and baseball together. We hunted and fished. We fussed, cussed, and fought among one another, only to make up in a few days. It's still hard for me to believe that several of those, once ornery boys, became preachers later in life. I guess that was the only way that we could ever make up for all of those days when we needed forgiveness.

My roguish behavior also manifested itself in the woods. I shot my BB gun at all kinds of critters. I didn't know any better.

One day I thought that one of the critters was taking revenge. I had walked up into the woods behind my house with my trusty Daisy rifle in hand. I was looking for a squirrel. The sun had just risen and was making it hard for me to see up in the trees. As I was plodding along I noticed the silhouette of a big bird high on a limb. I didn't know at the time that it was a large hoot owl. I aimed my gun at the center of its body and pulled the trigger. I don't know if I hit it or not but the bird immediately spread his wings to take flight. The sun's position at his back made him look enormous and I thought he was swooping directly toward me. I ran as fast as I could to get away from the "prehistoric" bird that, I thought, was going to sweep me off my feet and carry me to its lair. As you can tell this was another lasting impression from my childhood in the great outdoors.

We all have memories like these and many of you tell me how these articles, at times, bring you back to your own childhood. It's good that we remember those times. They are part of who you are now and they reveal what makes you the happiest. Have you lost your smile today? Take a trip back. Remember one of those "hoot owl" moments. And before long a smile will creep up where it belongs and just where you left it.

4th Grade Paper Airplane Launch

After testing ended for the year 4th grade students in Mrs. Holly Shouse and Ms. Kim Johnson's rooms began a project that ended up with a paper airplane launch. Students read a story entitled Flying Solo about female pilot, Ruth Elder's flight successes and her determination to succeed in the world of aviation during the early 1900's. Students then watched videos and were given 5 written sets of directions to look over and choose one for constructing a paper airplane of their own. On Monday, May 19th all 52 students lined up on the playground to see how their planes would fly. The winner in Ms. Johnson's homeroom was Bradley Hall and the winner in Mrs. Shouse's room was Dusty DeWees. These two students then faced off. The overall winner was Dusty DeWees with his high flying airplane that was a design he came up with on his own at home! Congratulations to Dusty and the rest of the 4th grade students for a great job!

Dusty Dewees was the winner from Mrs. Shouse's room with his high flying airplane.

Owsley County High School student Axl Bryant has been named a 2014 Rogers Scholar

Owsley County High School student Axl Bryant has been selected by The Center for Rural Development to represent Owsley County as a 2014 Rogers Scholar.

Axl, 16, a sophomore, will join 60 high school students from Southern and Eastern Kentucky this summer for the Rogers Scholars program on the campus of Lindsey Wilson College.

Rogers Scholars, the flagship youth program of The Center, is an intensive one-week summer program that provides leadership and exclusive college scholarship opportunities for students to build their skills as the region's next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs.

Axl says he is looking forward to meeting and making new friends at Rogers Scholars. He is interested in learning more about career options, but is strongly considering a career in zoology.

Axl is the son of Randy and Jennifer Bryant of Booneville.

The Rogers Scholars program was created by U.S. Congressman Hal Rogers so that "no young person should have to leave home to find his or her future."

"The program emphasizes the development of skills in fields like science, technology and healthcare, and instills in participants a sense of leadership, an entrepreneurial spirit, and a commitment to rural Kentucky," said Delaney Stephens, youth programs coordinator and community liaison for The Center. "We are proud to announce the 2014 Class of Rogers Scholars and look forward to working with each of these participants this summer at the 17th annual Rogers Scholars program."

This year's dates for the Rogers Scholars program are June 22-27 and July 6-11. Seventeen colleges and universities partner with The Center to offer exclusive college scholarship opportunities to Rogers Scholars graduates who successfully complete all of the program requirements.

For more information about Rogers Scholars, contact The Center at 606-677-6000, email youth@centertech.com or visit www.centeryouthprograms.com.

When Jesus and the apostles ate the last supper Christ instituted the ceremony that today we call, "communion." There are two basic reasons we take communion today.

First is to remember Jesus and what He did for us on the cross. Christ said, "This do in remembrance of me" (Luke 22:19). The second reason is for us to examine ourselves, take inventory of our souls and the life we live (1 Cor 11:28).

In America; Memorial Day is upon us. It is a day we set aside to remember all members of the military especially those that have fallen on the battlefield and other loved ones who have gone on before us.

There is an instance I remember with my dad. Dad fought in WWII; he was in the Pacific theater and spent most of his time in the Philippines. When this instance occurred dad was in his 80s; mom was in the hospital and dad and I were leaving after visiting her. Dad was wearing a ball cap that read, "WWII Veteran" as we were walking down the long corridor of the hospital. A doctor was walking in the opposite direction, as he past he said, "Thank you for your service."

None of us stopped, there was no conversation, dad did say, "thank you" but by then the doctor was well past us.

When we reached the entrance area, dad sat in one of the chairs but before I went outside to get the car I noticed dad wiping a tear off his face. I told dad that mom was going to be okay, he he looked me in the face and said something I never expected, "Did you hear that doctor? He thanked me for what I did."

Over the years, I would ask specifically, "What did you do?"

But the most he would ever tell me was that he spent time in the Philippines; he just would not talk about it. I was well into my 40s before dad ever told me he was a flamethrower. He gave me no description of what he did, no explanation. He understood I knew history well enough to realize what his job was. From his years of silence and job description; I'm pretty sure he killed a man or two.

Dad is gone now as are so many of America's greatest generation. Give thanks to God and to all the men and women in uniform from the Revolutionary War to today for their courage and service. If you know a family that has someone currently serving overseas do something for them this weekend; invite them to the cookout, take them to the zoo, whatever, but something.

Well, I've gone through some personal memories of my father and his service to our great nation. Now let's set back and do some examination. How are we doing as a country?

To examine ourselves we do need to look at both the good and the bad. I will do this, as I see it, looking at one category at the time, both the good and the bad. The good: we are still the biggest kid on the block. There is no military larger than ours, our soldiers are the best trained and equipped in the world. Based solely on military strength no one comes close.

The bad: the respect that the world has for us is lower than anyone alive can remember. They doubt if we will back up our friends and if we will do anything even if provoked. Those outside the country believe we no longer act because of moral conviction; they believe we act because of political expediency.

The good: America is the most giving country in the world. When disaster strikes it is the American's that are first on the scene with the tools and necessities to help.

The bad: many in America no longer believe that government assistance is something that should be temporary to help in the difficult times. The attitude has switched to one of entitlement for a lifetime. The good: many claim to be religious or "spiritual" and there are more mega churches (churches with 5,000 of more in attendance) than ever before.

The bad: sin is rampant. Some of the sexual sins are honored and just about all the sex sins are consider normal and are commonplace in society. We continue to murder around a million unborn babies every year.

The list of good and bad can long continue beyond the space allotted here but America remains the greatest place on earth. We are not perfect, we do have our problems; therefore, as a nation and as individuals, we need to remember and to examine.

Happy Memorial Day. Preacher Johnson is Pastor of Countryside Baptist Church in northern Parke County Indiana. Email: preacherspoint@gmail.com. Blog: www.preacherjohnson.com.

CANCER COALITION HOSTMOTHER'S DAY STRAWBERRY SOCIAL 2014

Scenes from the Cancer Coalition
Mother's Day Strawberry Social

On Monday, May 5th, the Owsley County Cancer Awareness Coalition held the 13th annual Mother's Day Event. This event was for all mothers, daughters, aunts, sisters, grandmothers, etc., and was held at the Owsley County Senior Citizens Center. The event was held to raise awareness of breast & cervical cancer and the importance of getting screened on an annual basis.

Vivian Bowling shared with the group the importance of getting your annual screenings. She also told us her story as a breast cancer survivor.

Refreshments were provided by members of the Cancer Coalition including a potluck meal, strawberries, shortcake and whipped topping. Participants also brought their favorite dish to share. Participants received door prizes including petunias and other items. Fifty people participated in all. Everyone seemed to have a wonderful time.

A special thanks to Vivian Bowling for sharing her story, Anna Marshall, Senior Citizens Center Director, for allowing us to use the facility, and to everyone that brought food for the pot luck meal.

If anyone is interested in joining the Owsley Cancer Awareness Coalition, please call the Owsley County Extension Service at (606) 593-5109 or Owsley County Health Department at (606) 593-5181. You can also like our Facebook page Owsley Cancer Awareness Coalition - to keep up with coalition planning and future events. Please remember to "Be Wise-Get Screened!"

else and my new found confidence has been the drive that I have needed to succeed. Above all else you have to have confidence in yourself,” he said.
Nicholas wants to encourage others to attend HCTC because he believes others can have the wonderful experience he has had. “Anyone can do this! I mean look at me, I never even had a high school diploma; I dropped out my senior year of high school. When my first son was born I realized I had to do something to better myself for my family and I had no idea that RTW could have lead me so far! It still blows me away that I am only three semesters away from my bachelor’s degree in Criminal Justice. It’s been such a blessing to be a part of such a wonderful program.”
Sandy Campbell, Ready to Work Coordinator, noted, “I am proud of Nicholas and Ashley and all that they have accomplished. They are a perfect example of learning to overcome personal struggles to reach their full potential. Their story should be an inspiration for others as well.”
Ashley Banks is pursuing a degree in Human Services and plans to graduate in fall of 2015. “Ready to Work has been a wonderful experience for me. I have been able to earn some income to provide for my boys as well as pursue my educational goals. Without this program I highly doubt that this would have ever been possible I am truly grateful for this experience,” she said.

“The biggest struggle that I have overcome took place this semester, with the loss of my Dad. My Dad was diagnosed with stage-three lung cancer in April 2013 and he passed away April 5, 2014. It was one of the hardest things I have ever faced. That whole week it seemed that I allowed my work to fall behind; I really could not make myself care. Then one day I heard my Daddy’s voice in my head telling me to get up and do that work so I did, I caught up on every assignment that I had missed. If I have learned anything you cannot let life’s struggles get you down. You have to keep at it even on days you don’t really want too.”
Like her husband, Ashley sings the praises of the HCTC Ready to Work program. “I appreciate the Ready to Work Program because this program has allowed me to accomplish so much and when I do receive my degree I feel like I can walk away confidently with the skills that I will need in my future career. I would advise anyone who has a desire to further their education to start now; it’s never too late. I won’t say that it has been easy; there have been many nights that I have sat at my kitchen table and worked on papers until 3 in the morning and then rolled out of bed to get my boys ready for school at 6 but it has all been worth it and I hope they see how hard that their Dad and I have worked to make sure they have the best beginning possible,” she said.

prison sentence. In another sex abuse case, Moore was able to unveil the repeated abuse and rape of a juvenile that dated back over 10 years. Through exhaustive effort, Moore was able to build a case and arrest the person responsible for this awful crime. The case resulted in a 20 year prison sentence for the offender.

In another case, Moore’s perseverance and attention to detail led to multiple arrests resulting in the termination of a major drug trafficking and burglary ring in Bath County and multiple year prison sentences for the offenders. Through a long, thorough independent investigation, Moore was able to obtain a search warrant that led to the discovery of numerous drugs being sold, as well as the major bath salt dealer in the community. The search also yielded over $13,000 in cash and other property that has since been forfeited to the agency.

A native of Booneville, KY, Trooper Jonathan Moore is a 2003 graduate of Owsley Co. High School. He is the son David and Christine Moore of Booneville, KY. Jonathan is married to Amanda Brewer Moore, daughter of Debbie Brewer of Booneville, KY.
